About the Texas Relocation Report
The Texas Relocation Report is based on data from the 2013 American Community Survey and the 2008-2012 American Community Survey 5-Year Estimates by the U.S. Census Bureau as well as the U-Haul 2013 National Migration Trend Reports. The report analyzes county relocation data for the 43 largest demographic areas in Texas. The Texas Association of REALTORS® distributes insights about the Texas housing market each month, including quarterly market statistics, trends among homebuyers and sellers, luxury home sales, international trends, and more. To view the Texas Relocation Report in its entirety, visit TexasRealEstate.com.

Executive Summary

The 2014 Texas Relocation Report shows that Texas continues to be a national leader in relocation activity and a sought-after location for households moving out of state.

According to the report, Texas gained more out-of-state residents than any other state in 2013, with 584,034 people moving to Texas from out of state. A majority of these residents originated from California (66,318), followed by Florida (32,619), Oklahoma (29,169), Louisiana (29,042), and Illinois (28,900).

Texas ranked third in the nation for number of residents moving out of state in 2013 (409,977), coming in behind California (581,689) and Florida (423,995) and topping New York (401,440), and Illinois (304,674). Like with incoming residents, a majority of the residents who moved out of state moved to California (32,290), followed by Oklahoma (27,391), Florida (24,226), Colorado (23,490), and Louisiana (21,747).

Overall, Texas had a net gain of out-of-state residents in 2013, with 138,057 more people moving into Texas than Texas residents moving out of state in 2013. This report comes six months after U-Haul named Texas the No. 2 growth state for 2013, Houston as the nation’s top destination city, and Dallas as the top U.S. growth city in its 2013 relocation reports.

The 2014 Texas Relocation Report also shows 5-year estimates of Texas migration data (2008-2012) on a county-by-county basis for counties within the top 43 designated market areas in Texas. A majority of the top 10 counties with net gains in out-of-county residents were in the Dallas-Fort Worth area (Tarrant, Denton, Collin, and Dallas counties) and in Central Texas (Travis, Williamson, and Bell counties).

Harris and Dallas counties remain the top two most mobile counties in the Lone Star State, ranking No. 1 and No. 2 in Texas, respectively, for both the largest inflow and the largest outflow of people. However, both of these counties posted the highest net losses of residents moving out of county, with Dallas County posting the highest net loss of people (25,461) followed by Harris County (20,222).

The top 10 Texas counties with the highest net gains of people from out of county were spread all over the state, with three of the top 10 counties located in Central Texas (Williamson, Hays, and Travis) but with the DFW-area’s Denton County leading by far with a net gain of 13,754 out-of-county residents.
